Bereavement and Past Life Trauma
Saturday, April 13, 2019 ~ 10 AM - 5 PM

Facilitated by Dr. Linda Backman & Rev. Terri Daniel, MA, CT

An in-depth, experiential workshop for bereaved individuals & bereavement professionals

If you're grieving a loss of any kind, or if you're a professional working with loss and grief, this workshop will introduce you to a unique perspective on how losses from our past lives inform the way we experience grief today. Through hands-on experiential processes and a guided group regression, we will explore trauma, loss and grief through the lenses of psychology, theology and spirituality, with a specific focus on our past life experiences and their influence on our current relationships, our styles of coping with loss, and our emotional and physical health.

Dr. Linda Backman is a licensed psychologist and regression therapist, has been in private practice for more than 40 years. Rev. Terri Daniel, MA, CT, is a clinical chaplain, ordained interfaith minister and end-of-life educator certified in death, dying and bereavement. Workshop Cost: $159. Space is limited!
